

Energy & Commodities Indicative Data

TP North American Natural Gas

Background

This report provides an end-of-day source for Natural Gas pricing data, drawn directly from Tullet Prebon's ("TP") brokerage desks in Edison, New Jersey.

Our daily pricing data reflect futures prices across the prevailing standardized North American Natural gas markets. End-of-day (EOD) broker prices are based on expert evaluations of daily trading activity and are intended to provide indicative market insights. These prices do not represent currently actionable orders. Coverage of the Natural Gas market is dependent on trading activity, and the level of detail may vary in response to fluctuations in market liquidity.

Key Benefits

- Assess market risk leveraging a reliable, independent, and market-driven pricing source.
- Leverage the position of TP ICAP as one of the world's leading brokers in both Global and North American power.
- Our end-of-day delivery provides timely information, making it an ideal solution for middle office and market risk teams.
